The Secret to getting ahead is getting started

Dr. John Watford
President, SGTC

Summer may be the best time of year! It has been said that summertime is always the best of what might be. With that thought in mind, think about “what might be” and let South Georgia Technical College help mold your future with a fresh start, a new career or even the opportunity to refresh skills for your current occupation.

South Georgia Technical College not only provides valuable education and training for in-demand careers, but it also offers students the “Complete College Experience” with on-campus housing, nationally ranked academic programs, student activities, and intercollegiate athletics. Students can take advantage of all of these opportunities and still be job ready in as little as eight weeks.

Nationally recognized companies such as Caterpillar, John Deere, Georgia Power, Delta, Gulfstream, and others are joined by local and regional businesses and industries in search of qualified employees. Recruitment events are held almost weekly for health care and personal service, transportation, manufacturing, business and other skilled in-demand positions. This is a great time to think about “what might be!”

South Georgia Technical College has plans to offer more in-person classes on both the Americus and the Cordele campuses this summer. The new semester begins May 25th and ends July 29th. Summer semester offers students the opportunity to gain 16-weeks of skills in just eight short weeks in one of over 200 associate degree, diploma or technical certificate of credit programs.

For individuals who would like to gain the skills needed to begin a career quickly, the Crisp County Center will begin offering Nail Technician courses in Cordele. Eden Edge is the new adjunct instructor who will be teaching these classes. This is a great opportunity to gain the skills needed to be employed in this field.

Students can also sign up for Certified Nurse Aid classes and complete the program in eight weeks. Janice Hudson, 229-271-4970 or Janice.hudson@southgatech.edu, will be offering classes from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. this summer. One class is totally online but she will offer in-person reviews. To sign up, contact Admissions Coordinator Katrice Taylor at 229-271-4051 or ktaylor@southgatech.edu.

These short-term, hands-on skills programs that combine heart and head knowledge are some of the types of programs South Georgia Technical College excels in providing. SGTC has been named the top two-year college in Georgia for the past three years by Niche.com. And right now, over 138 of the programs offered at South Georgia Technical College qualify for the HOPE Career Grant program. That means additional tuition funds for qualified individuals enrolled in high-demand career programs.

If you think “what might be” could involve working in an office as a payroll clerk specialist or learning more about cyber security and computer information specialties, drafting, marketing, business technology or other fields, sign up today.

However, if you prefer a more hands-on type of career, talk with us about air conditioning technology, culinary arts, early childhood care and education, electronics, sports and fitness management, aircraft structural technology, aviation maintenance, auto collision and repair technology, automotive technology, barbering, cosmetology, diesel equipment technology, electrical systems, industrial mechanical systems, fire science, law enforcement, horticulture, medical assisting, motorsports vehicle technology, precision machining and manufacturing or welding.

All of these are excellent fields of study and many are in high demand by area employers. If you find yourself in need of English, Math, or other core type education classes, South Georgia Technical College is also offering those this summer.

Top-ranked academics, athletics, and activities are what students can expect at South Georgia Technical College this summer and beyond. When it comes to education and workforce development, South Georgia Tech is a name that students and employers depend on for action and results.

Throughout the pages of this booklet, you will see many course offerings, exciting opportunities, and many new employees who have joined South Georgia Technical College. If you would like to see “what might be” this summer, sign up today. You can apply, enroll, and register for classes in just one day.

What are you waiting for? Summertime may be the best time to begin thinking and acting on “what might be!”

Two SGTC Students Qualify for National SkillsUSA Competition

Three South Georgia Technical College students won gold and silver medals at the State SkillsUSA competition in Atlanta recently and two of those students will now advance to the National SkillsUSA competition in Atlanta June 20th – 24th. Aviation Maintenance Technology's Jonathan Large of Marianna, FL, and Criminal Justice Technology's Kimberly Sadecky of Montezuma, captured Gold medals or first place medals and will now advance to the national competition.

Five SGTC students were nominated by their instructors to compete in the state SkillsUSA event in Atlanta against the other top students from around the state in various categories. In addition to the two Gold medals, Aviation Maintenance's Carson Innarino of Senoia, GA, finished with a silver medal.

The other SGTC students who represented their programs at the competition which featured hundreds of students from across the state were: Paula Coleman of Lilly, GA, and Kelli Rees of Ellaville. Coleman, a SGTC Crisp County Criminal Justice student nominated by instructor Wanda Bishop, competed in the Prepared Speech event. Rees, an Americus Precision Machining and Manufacturing student, was nominated by instructor Chad Brown. She is a recent graduate of the welding program and competed in Welding Sculpture competition.

"We are very proud of each of these students," said South Georgia Technical College President Dr. John Watford. "To be nominated and qualify to represent the college as one of the best from South Georgia Technical College is an honor. To be singled out further with a gold or silver medal is outstanding."

SkillsUSA is a partnership of students, teachers and industry working together to ensure America has a skilled workforce. SkillsUSA serves middle-school, high-school and college/postsecondary students preparing for careers in trade, technical, and skills service (including health) occupations. Hundreds of students participate in SkillsUSA local, regional and state-wide competitions. Only the first-place winners from each event advance to the national competition. The theme for the Georgia conference was "United as One."

In addition to the program-specific skills competitions, students are also encouraged to attend leadership building seminars that will help them be better prepared to enter the workforce.

Three South Georgia Technical College students ranked nationally in the 2021 virtual SkillsUSA National Competition. Tison Smith of Leesburg, GA and Patrick Hortman of Ellaville, GA captured the Bronze medal in the national Additive Manufacturing competition and Jonathan Camp of Senoia, GA was one of nine finalists in the Aviation Maintenance Technology event.

SkillsUSA is another way South Georgia Technical College students prepare for success in the workplace. "The SkillsUSA competition awards validate the hands-on technical education that South Georgia Technical College provides. We are preparing individuals for the workforce. We appreciate the time and effort these students have dedicated to their projects and also the guidance and support provided by the instructors to prepare them for this competition," said SGTC President Dr. John Watford.

South Georgia Technical College offers students the "Complete College Experience" with on-campus housing and dining, nationally recognized academics, intercollegiate athletics, and student activities.
